

Winter 2021

Dear Prayer Warriors,

The last three months have been our busiest yet! We are so thankful for the opportunities the Lord has granted and for His strength to fulfill each of these opportunities. We have travelled from Florida to Michigan, from Washington State to Washington, D.C. Meetings in these states, as well as Tennessee, Kentucky, Virginia, North and South Carolina, Georgia and Alabama have yielded an additional four partnering churches for Military Missions and another five churches have indicated their intention to become partners! It has been so humbling to experience God's provision for our safety, strength and support (for those of you who know...for our "sanity" too!)

It was a great pleasure to take part in this year's Candidate School at BIMI's World Headquarters in Chattanooga, Tennessee. Due to Covid restrictions and precautions, we had to do a great deal of changing our format. All of the instruction for incoming missionary candidates was done virtually! It felt, like many of you who are using the internet now in group settings know, as if I was teaching a larger version of The Brady Bunch screen. (I probably just dated myself with that reference!) Although we regret that we were not able to meet in person, we are so thankful for the technology that aids in continuing on.

We were privileged to welcome a new family to BIMI's Military Ministry, John and Jen Smith. It is exciting to see the obedience of their hearts to the Lord's leading in their lives. Please join with us in praying for them as they begin this new chapter in their lives.

As students of history, we realize that every nation goes through ebbs and flows, ups and downs. Whether it be from within or from without, the seeming instability and resulting insecurity can be overwhelming if we are not careful. These situations affect us all on some level. History records for us how some have responded during tumultuous times. The Bible recounts the responses of others of which God wants us to be aware. Even our own experiences in Venezuela years ago have taught us many things. Because of all of the travel and interaction we have with believers, church leadership, missionaries, as well as the public in general, we have been reminded of our very own desperate need for continued daily trust and reliance upon our loving God and Savior. Would you please pray for our nation? Would you please pray for the nations in which our servicemen and women and our Military missionaries are serving? Please pray for our faithfulness to respond to each scenario with wisdom and prudence that God would be glorified.

We are so grateful for you our dear friends and partners! Your faithful support is so appreciated. We understand that each of you has been effected by Covid in some way and we regularly and purposefully pray for you. May the Lord bless each of you!

Humbly serving those who serve at home and abroad,

Bryan Baggett
